City Will Stand-by To Support Survey

SAN FRANCISCO'S government is at present under survey by experts in the department of public works in this city at the behest of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and public-spirited citizens. The two investigations have come with an avowed spirit of constructive criticism; they are to show the city government how it can handle the municipality more efficiently and economically. They have been welcomed cordially by the city officials and have been met with promises of cooperation.

If those promises of cooperation are kept they will be another in San Francisco's illustrious history.

This city has had before, and these experts have been met with, previous surveys by the officials and they have estimated largely and judiciously the present situation. The first survey was made in 1905, and the second in 1910. The first survey was made by the city's own engineers, and the second by the city's own engineers and the city's own engineers.
